

Regency Times

Vol. 3

Issue : 3

April-2015 to September-2015

Sitapur

Pages 1

Read Regency Times to know:

- What the year has in store for us
- Cricket is fun: subJunior
- Cricket is Fun: Junior
- Let your words awaken the listeners, Medha
- Welcome dear parents, you and I shall work together to....
- ---House wins the Cricket Match
- I hear the sweet strains in the core of my lotus temple heart....', on May, 7
- On the highway of learning.....
- From the Playgroup to Class I, It's a big leap! But the Kangaroo kids have mastered the art!
- Shakespeare, Wordsworth, Goldsmith live in my speech!
- Art imitates life, and the silver screen becomes us...
- Days of sunshine and rain, in and out of campus
- Saints are born even in the 20th century
- Wither Freedom lovers?
- Cowboys why do you ride horses?
- Donned in dazzling clothes, the maids in a row, dazzled
- Here are the new leaders and captains of the royal vessel regency
- Pragya : the seat of learning and knowledge
- Health, wealth and cleanliness
- With an eye for the future, Pedagogues put their pens and papers to use
- Travelling down memory lane are the lectures where we snored.....

The Beginning of another Dawn Year April 2015- March 2016

The Beginning, April 06, 2015

Regency Times is not a mere newsletter of the Institute. It is more than that. It chronicles the events that happen in the Institute and all that goes on here to make Regency what it is. Regency has been forward and fast moving where progress is concerned. The year so far has been full of events within the institute and outside it. It has been full of activities, manmade and otherwise, that is that which is not in our hands but shaped and formed by nature. The calendar which is arranged in the beginning of the academic year is observed as far as possible, nothing can unsettle it except some natural calamity, and which it did two times this year almost at the very onset. The earthquake happened just when the Hindi Elocution was about to be over and the Chief Guest was addressing. That really shook the peace abiding citizens and the Institute remained closed for two subsequent days according to the orders of the Authority. Once the tumult died down it was work once again. Life was back to normal, fear forgotten and left far behind. Students geared up for the next event. The Elocution Contest in English was the next big event coming. The day was May 12, even as the participants were practising for the next day's event a second trembler shook the grounds and people off their rocker. The Institute closed down for summer vacation a week ahead of the scheduled date. Before the closure for summers there was a very colourful function at the end of the month, Barbie Dolls and Cowboys, and was it not fun, with the barbies dolled for the occasion and the cowboys in their hats (sombros) and boots but minus their colt and fillies! We cannot miss out on the Dazzlers, when the little ones dazzled us with their sartorial taste and fantastic gait. Red House Day was celebrated with sobriety and reverence for the great bard, our national poet who is truly international. Open House was held on April 18, and May 16, before the closure for summer holidays. The Annual Meeting was held on May 15, presided by the Honorable President of the Society. Amidst the appraisals the President announced a day out for the faculty members to the water park before taking off for the vacation. It was back to work on July 1. The teachers reported earlier to attend a two day workshop on 'Teaching or helping the taught to Learn'. The Elocution competition in English was held on July 10. This time it came to pass without Nature's intervention, with aplomb. The teachers had welcomed the students wholeheartedly on April 6, the first day of the academic year. They had taken time off and prepared with love the display boards. This proved how much we longed for our dear students to be back to school after a short term end break. The other day the Vice President of the Society did another noble act. He decided to honour the teachers for their endeavor. Two distinguished persons were requested to judge the display boards. The teachers need to be rewarded for their honest toil. There were three categories as usual. Prizes were given away at the end of the evaluation.

The Display Board

The results of the Display Boards were as follow: The judges were Mr. Alok Srivastava, State Police Motor Vehicle Officer, and Mrs. Harbhajan Kaur

Group A: 1st Lalita Arya/Priya Bhargava
2nd Alpana Singh
3rd Sufi Jamal

Group B: 1st Zehni Rizvi
2nd Neetu Gupta
3rd Raaka Srivastava

Group C : 1st Arundhati Mitra
2nd Usha Devi Verma
3rd Shums Khan

We say 'All's well that ends well', let me say, "All's well that begins well too."