Editorial

The year started with joy and longing to continue with the best of efforts. The last year that is 2022, felt slight trepidations as we had just about started coming out of the pall of the previous two years, and with the fear of being assailed by it on a sudden without a warranty was looming. As life caught up, the fear subsided, and by the turn of the year poise and confidence took over. Now half way past the year 2023 we are in control of ourselves and ready once again to take on the world as of before.

The year started on a fun note with the Fun Races and with several other activities and competitions interspersed throughout the semester made it a collage of colour, events and accumulation of knowledge and skill. The news, views and images adorning the pages of the Newsletter will enthrall you and inform you and on taking in the fare spread before you, you shall anxiously wait for the next issue. Please read and get back to us with your views and reviews!

A profitable semester has completed and we look forward to the start of a new one with intense joy. Delightful Reading time to all of you!

Annual Awards Conferral 2022

Come, let's have fun! Fun Race March 25

The academic year started on a high note.

We started with the little ones, in fact the littlest of the lot in the Enclave, Fun Races were run by Grades 1,2,3, 4, and 5, such as, Banana Race, Frog Race, Sack Race, Three legged Race, and Just a Minute respectively. Parents of the participating pupils were invited to witness the events and they enjoyed thoroughly. Held in the mild summery spring it was enjoyable and high spirited. It was the right event to start a meaningful academic year. The children enjoyed and participated heartily in the foray. The surprise event was Mothers Race, but the winner had to be the TURTLE, the slowest of the racer! Oh and they did it, and how! Then the Fathers raced and won their way and won the day! The best thing about this event was that it involved all and made everyone participate, all present in the field.
